REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:

1. Kitchen sink faucet - the knob on top of the water spout popped off and won't stick when I try to snap it back on. It controls the water flow - i.e. stream or spray. Right now if I want to change the flow I have to use my fingernails to pull up (or push down) on a thin metal rod. It's very frustrating and I'd like to see it fixed or replaced. 2. Master bathroom toilet - something is wrong with the tank assembly that prevents it from refilling the tank with water after it's been flushed. I have to take the top off the tank and pull up and drop down on a lever to start water flowing into the tank. Again, I'd like to see this fixed or replaced. ---spoke with jason, waiting for pics
