REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:
 -lavatory drain leaking.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:
 -I filled the lavatory sink(right side) in master bathroom and let water run through the overflow. The drain was partially blocked with hair so the water was draining very slow. While water was draining through the overflow I noticed water starting to seep out of the bottom of the sink onto the countertop and to the underside of the sink. This overflow should be able to hold water, no matter how slowly it is draining out. The fact that it leaks would indicate that there is an imperfection in the porcelain allowing water to leak out.

TECHNICIAN RECOMMENDATIONS:
 -I cleared the drain and water now flows freely through the drain and the overflow without leaking, and will continue to work just fine, but this leak will return if the drainage becomes plugged up in the future. I recommend replacing the sink to avoid future leaking.
