REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:

When water is turned on we're getting literally a moaning sound. It seems to permeate the house and is becoming a nuisance. The water was turned off to the house to facilitate installation of a new hot water tank before this all happened. Last week we sent pictures of the main floor Toto flushing system where, at that time, it seemed to be localized.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:

-I was able to recreate the humming noise and found it to be coming from the PRV located in the basement. I recommended calling Dunbar Plumbing for replacement. -I was also asked to look at the toilet in the basement suite. The owners would like to replace the toilet, I let them know that they will have to purchase a 10" rough-in toilet as a 12" will not fit.
