REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:
Inspect supply lines to fixtures.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:
 ?Kitchen: -The supply line to the dishwasher is of the braided stainless type and appears to be in good shape. I removed the kickplate to gain access to the underside of the machine and it looks like there was water leakage at some point but it was completely dry. I ran the machine through a quick fill & drain cycle and could see no sign of leaking. -The hot supply line to the kitchen tap was replaced not too long ago with a braided supply line but the cold supply was still the original. I replaced this with a new braided stainless type supply line. ?Master Ensuite: All supply Lines to the toilet and faucet are of the braided stainless type and appear to be in good shape. ?Guest Bathroom: The Toilet supply line and the supply to the hot side of the lav faucet are both of the braided stainless type but the cold supply to the faucet was the original, I replaced this with a new braided supply line. ?Laundry: Both hot & Cold Supply Lines were of the braided stainless type but Stephen was unsure of when they were last replaced so I replaced them with new braided supply lines.

TECHNICIAN RECOMMENDATIONS:
I recommend having a appliance tech that is authorized to work on Sub Zero products inspect the fridge supply line.
