REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:

Hi there, There's a slow leak under the bathroom sink in my apartment. The water appears to be leaking from around the pipe clamps (wet underneath them) and is dripping from the trap. The water appears to leak only when the tap is in use. Attached is a photo. Looking for a quote from you to resolve the issue. Otherwise open to any DIY suggestions! Please let me know if you have any questions. Many thanks, Ben

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:

The leak appeared to be coming from the 1.5" side of the 2" X 1.5" Cremco Coupling. When I arrived I could see a drop of water forming. I noticed that the gear clamp on this side of the coupling was not as tight as it should be. I removed the Cremco coupling, cleaned it, and reinstalled, ensuring to tighten it fully. I then tested by filling and draining the sink multiple times and could see no sign of leaking from this or any other connection.

TECHNICIAN RECOMMENDATIONS:

I suggested Mohammed keep a container under the area for a week just to ensure this was the only issue.
