REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:

Our dishwasher appears to be leaking, however, we believe it is stemming from a leaky kitchen faucet. We did replace the washer a couple of months ago, however, this did not solve the problem. The base of the faucet also has a tendency to loosen *Barbara is away, Max will grant access into unit.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:

I filled and drained both sides of the sink with no sign of leaking. I then ran the dishwasher through a cycle and noticed during the drain cycle that water was leaking from the connection between the dishwasher drain hose and the garburator, the gear clamp used to secure this connection was broken. I replaced the gear clamp and tested everything again, no other signs of leaking detected. -The faucet seems to be fully tightened from below. If it loosens again in the future i'll have to take another look and see if anything else can be done to prevent it from recurring.
